Earnings in line, orders even stronger

3Q26 preview

We estimate 3Q26 revenue at W168.6bn (+27.0% YoY, +2.7% QoQ), OP at W64.2bn (+50.9% YoY, +3.5% QoQ), and OPM at 38.1%, in line with consensus. While exchange rates and shipment schedules may cause quarterly fluctuations, we expect the firm's high-margin business structure centered on specialty transformers to remain intact. New orders are expected to increase from 2Q26, with follow-on orders from Bloom Energy continuing. Beyond near-term quarterly earnings, we focus on the rapid accumulation of orders that will convert into revenue from 2027 onward as the customer base and applications expand.

2027 forecast: first year of BTM contributing to revenue

We estimate 2027 revenue at W885.1bn (+33.4% YoY), OP at W338.1bn (+35.6% YoY), and OPM at 38.2%. Renewables/data center revenue is expected to reach W642.6bn, driving overall growth. As data center transformer orders secured from Bloom Energy in 1H26 and subsequent follow-on orders begin to contribute meaningfully to revenue, BTM is expected to emerge as a new growth driver alongside renewables. On Oct 6, the firm also secured a W35.1bn order for pad-mounted transformers for a BESS project serving US data centers, sustaining data center order momentum. Grid transformer orders still have room to recover, with growth potentially resuming next year if utility orders normalize. The potential for simultaneous growth in BTM and existing grid demand is the key to the outlook for 2027.

We maintain BUY and our target price of W360,000. The stock currently trades at a 2028E P/E of 19x, a discount to global peers. With high profitability sustained, repeat orders from Bloom Energy and expanded supply to new data center customers are expected to continue in 2027, providing ample further upside.
